WUNDERKIND-Custom: New parts for Triumph Bobber & speedmaster models

D-Breisach a. Rh. / 28th Feb 2020 From the beginning, the Bobber models have been very popular and are often customized with accessories. Therefore, the German motorcycle accessories manufacturer has taken up this model family, again. And in cooperation with Bigger Bobber® and TWINTON® Motorcycle Culture he has expanded the range of custom parts by two extraordinary highlights.

After the all-round conversion with more than 20 accessories, the bike convinces with a new character: An impressive old school look in the form of noble and partly very elaborately designed custom parts is combined with great practical use. For example, with the large 16.8-liter aluminum gasoline tank from Bigger Bobber®, longer tours of up to about 300 kilometers without refueling are possible, now. And the original speedometer can be perfectly integrated into the new TWINTON® main headlamp housing.

Consideration has also been given to repositioning the original horn by using a specially designed installation kit. The reason: The horn simply stuck out simply too far away. Thus, it was mounted behind the radiator.

In the handlebar area, you will find individually adjustable levers, vibration-reducing grips, handlebar end mirrors and risers that match the overall design. The forward control, which can be adjusted several times, ensures a more relaxed seating position for every body size and shines as a further benefit at the bike. A side license plate holder, a shortened rear fender and struts with integrated LED turn signals clear up the end of the motorbike.

An extensive cover series gives the custom bike its optical perfection: Starting with the fork standpipes, the oil filler plug and chain guard through to the covers for the rear axle and chain guard. A matching front fender ensures a harmonious finish to the conversion from front to rear.

Depending on the accessories, there are availabilities for Triumph Bobber, Bobber Black and Speedmaster models. All custom parts are now available at the webshop of wunderkind-custom.com.
